MANY FACILITIES IN I. S. FOR SUMMER MEMBERS

Library, Gym, Social Room and Pool Await Leisure of Members

Now that the summer is here, the major activities of the Junior and Senior clubs are on the wane. The unusual interest manifested in social activities such as dancing, gym contests, etc., is gradually decreasing with the advent of the torrid weather.

Several of the organizations, in order to keep up the spirit of unity and fraternalism that was so evident throughout the year are leasing bungalows at the beaches for the summer season. Some of the I. S. club members, using I. S. training by participation in activities as a background, are employed as social entertainers, positions carrying substantial salaries.

For those, however, who will remain in the city, there are enough facilities at the building to keep them profitably occupied. These facilities are oftimes overlooked because of their apparent obviousness. For instance, there is the splendidly equipped library, which, because of its cool a^{n} inviting atmosphere, should furnish 2 real haven for those who will do their summer reading. And let us not forget the beckoning call of the social room wherein to spend the summer evenings.

The spacious and almost frigid atmosphere of the gymnasium, where a strenuous workout may be indulged in, should keep us physically fit and able to withstand the discomfort and rigors of the sweltering days.

But what is unarimously considered as the outstanding feature of the summer facilities at the I. S. is the swimming pool. One plunge in its sparkling and refreshing waters at the end of a distressingly hot da¹⁰ is enough to earn life long gratitude of those who will avail themselves of this opportunity.

While crowds are struggling in the overladen subway trains en route to the beaches the wise man will realize the needlessness of this inconvenience.

wishes its many readers—the members of the I. S.—a pleasant and enjoyable vacation. We resume publication September 1st.

ANCIENT JEWS OF TANGIERS BOAST OF MEMORABLE HISTORY

Tangier, romantic seaport city of Northern Africa, boasts of a large population of Jews whose ancestors have been citizens of Morocco for the past fifteen hundred years. The people of the city are of many races, consisting mainly of Jews, Spaniards, Moors, Berbers and Arabs.

Although at least ten thousand Jews inhabit the city, it is impossible to distinguish them among Jew, Moor and Spaniard. Those in native costume of ragged burnouse and heelless sandals could not be told apart from the Moors in similar dress. The skull cap; worn by the older Jews; is the sole means of identifying the Jew.

Regarding their commercial enterprise, the Jews of Tangier conduct the more important stores and establishments. Although there are no statistics to show their wealth, it is very evident that they are exceedingly prosperous.

Many of these Jews were descended from the Jews of Spain and they look forward to another rebirth of Jewish greatness in Spain.

Culturally the Jews of Morocco are far superior to their non-Jewish countrymen. This is especially true in Tangier, although it applies also to the two other large countries of Jewish population—Casablanca and Tetuan.

The Tangier community supports three synagogues, and three schools. The schools are almost wholly secular in their administration and instruction, Jews teaching the arts and sciences. RABBI AND PRESIDENT SPEAK

Sixty Medals, Placques and Cups Presented to Meritorious Clubs and Individuals

With a grand flourish and in glorified manner the termination of an exceedingly successful season was drawn to a close last Monday evening, June 24th, when the I. S. Celebrated its Twelfth Annual Award Night where the outstanding and meritorious members and clubs were rewarded with medals, placques and cups.

Despite the torrid weather an enthusiastic audience crowded into the auditorium early in the evening to insure themselves of choice seats. But what is praiseworthy is the excellent decorum and order that the congregants manifested in spite of the sweltering climate.

All Activities Covered

The awards covered all the fields of cultural, religious and recreational activities covered by the I. S. Bible story contest, dramatics, inter-club debating, declamation, baseball, swimming and basketball were among the major activities represented. Single individuals were recognized for merit and service by the most treasured of all prizes—the character medal.

The stirring strains of the national anthem, followed by "Hatikva" opened the program. Mr. William H. Shapiro, social and educational director, after a few words of greeting introduced Rabbi Herbert S. Goldstein.

Our esteemed and beloved Rabbi, in his short address stressed the importance of competition in making for success in our endeavors. "There is nothing more honorable than knowing that we have given our best to come in first place, even tho we were not victorious. It is the attempt to do the right thing that is so laudable," remarked the Rabbi.

of Directors, followed, and in his usual brilliant oratorical manner expounded some of the aims and ideals of the I. S. in reconciling Judaism and Americanism. He cited an exemple of perseverance in the recent Poughkeepsie boat races, where the dope was upset and the teams which were determined not to trail succeeded in coming in first, and "keep your aims constantly in mind and follow the ball," was his final plea.

For winning the debating championship of the Metropolitan League in Manhattan and the Bronx, the Senior and Intermediate Teams were given appropriate medal. Thes : were donated by Mrs. Annie R. Morris, president of the I. S. Sisterhood, in memory of her late beloved husband, Hon. Sam uel R. Morris, and her brother, Ely Rosenberg. She also pledged to donate the Debating Medals each year hereafter.

Al Sterenbuch and Jack Lefkowitz comprise the Senior team while Dave Shopers and Abe Margolies make up the Intermediates.

Mr .Abraham Bernstein, Executive Director, was presented to the audience, as were the heads of the Physical and Swimming Departments, Messrs. Silbert and Silverman respectively.

After Cong. Siegel had given out the Social Department awards and had made the club leaders recipients of handsome tokens, the Rabbi awarded Miss Eva Stein with a beautifully engraved gold medal, "in recognition of her most valuable services in conducting religious programs among the S-E Dept. Clubs."

The crowd went wild with delight when the guest of the evening was introduced not to fight but to speak—Benny Leonard, undefeated lightweight champ of the world. In his short speech Mr. Leonard stressed the importance of fighting fair and clean. He stated that in any activity we engage our thought should be—to hit hard and fight our way to the top. The ovation that Benny received will long live in the memory of the I. S. members.

Benny presented all the athletic awards, starting off with a beautiful placque awarded by the Metropolitan Leogue for winning the swimming championship for the fourth consecutive year. No wonder everyone was so well pleased.

It was with this symbol of victory that the festivities of the evening was concluded, the happy prizewinners delighted with their gifts and the I. S. pleasurably aware of its work being so well done.

Largest and Most Successful Field Day Conducted in Institutional Synagogue History

Officials Rewarded by Parents' Association With Delicious Dinner

The Twelfth Annual Field Day of the Institutional Synagogue was held last Sunday morning, June 23rd, at Pelham Bay Athletic Field. Although the occasion looked like a rain-out, "Old Man Sunshine" managed to creep out from his hiding place.

In true athletic style and decorum, the order of games was run off. Mr. Silbert and Mr. Silverstein were the officials of the meet, and were ably assisted by members of the Social and Education Department staff.

The teachers and officials of the Building were rewarded with a bountiful lunch prepared by the ever wakeful Parents' Association, headed by their president, Mrs. I. Stein and her daughter, Miss Eva Stein.

The outstanding event was the great run of Shapiro in the 220-yard dash. This chap Shapiro is a "real comer," and gives evidence of developing into a second Nurmi.

Exceedingly gratifying was the unexpected turnout of the various clubs affiliated with the Building. This day exemplified the usual brand of good sportsmanship and spirit that has always been the boast of the Institutional Synagogue.

CLUBS OF TALMUD TORAH AUGMENT WORK OF SOCIAL DEPARTMENT

The Institutional Synagogue Talmud Torah Dramatic Troupe is an organization formed by the pupils of the Talmud Torah under the directorship of Mr. Cohen. The aim of this organization is to develop innate dramatic abilities of its members and to supply the entertainment at Talmud Torah festivities.

The club convenes every Monday evening at 7:30 P. M. At these meetings the members compete in the fields of drama, dance and music.

Besides plays appropriate to each Jewish holiday, the club presented the following plays to its members: "An Every Day Occurrence," "Midnight" and "A Murder."

On June 24th the Troupe held its final session of this season. Refreshments were served and entertainments were supplied by the artists.

Another club with an excellent record is the Sabbath Story Club, under the leadership of Mr. Reiss. The club meets every Saturday to hear a story related by their leader and to tell the best stories they have read or heard.

An interesting feature innovated is the "Endless Story Feature." There is fun in it and this is how it is conducted: One of the members begins a story and stops when he receives orders to that effect from his leader. The story is then taken up by another member. Five minutes are allotted to him. He has to use his imagination and leads the story to an exciting point. He is not to finish it. The story is so continued without an end.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE TEMPTS CROWD TO PARENT ASSOCIATION FESTIVAL

Tokens of Appreciation Given to Rabbi, Cantor, and its President and Secretary.

A delightful and merry evening was had last Wednesday night at the Annual Strawberry Festival given by the Parents Association at the Institutional Synagogue. Over one hundred couples, both young and old, were sincere in their acclamation of the "evening well spent."

During the course of the evening a suitable gift was presented to Rabbi Goldstein for his conducting the Parents' Association Bible Class. Also a beautiful silk "Talith" was bestowed upon Cantor Zalman Yavneh, an exquisite cameo to Mrs. I. Stein, the hard working president, and a handsome ring to Miss Gertrude Stein.

The following members were on the committee who helped make this occasion a success:

Mrs. A. Wartels and Mrs. Vosberg, chairladies; Miss Gertrude Stein, Mrs. Minnie Cohen, Mrs. Kleinfeld, Mrs. Polay, Mrs. Berger, Mrs. Holander, Mrs. Neworth, Mrs. Lieberman, Mrs. Vogel, Mrs. S. D. Burnett, Mrs. Podolsky, Mrs. Winokur, Mrs. A. Levine.

ANTI-SEMITIC DEMON-STRATIONS TAKE PLACE IN POLAND

Occasional anti-Semitic demonstrations are still arising in different parts of Europe.

Biased anti-Jewish agitators in Lemberg, Poland, a few weeks ago incited rioting upon the Jewish Community of that city. Thanks to the firm hand of the existing Polish Government the outlaws were quickly rendered harmless and many of them were arrested.

The anti-Semitic leaders had induced these riots for political purposes. They sought to show the world that the present Polish Government was incompetent or indifferent with respect to affording protection to the Jewish inhabitants of the land.

The Government, aware of the plan to discredit it, at once put down the outbreak.

Plots in All Cemeteries Herman E. Meyers STAGE FRIGHT

How does it come about that though a man ordinarily has a steady flow of ideas and words when he sits in a chair, he cannot think on his legs; that even a halfreclining posture does not check speech, but perpendicularity paralyzes him? What after all is it that shortens the breath, causes the heart to pound, dries up the mouth, makes the knees tremble and impels one to turn tail and run off the platform?

This physical disturbance is brought on by a state of mind, a mental distress. Ideas of weakness, failure and defeat intensify the physical manifestions of nervousness. Uneasy anticipation and dread are the two psychological factors that break down the speaker's morale. In short it is thinking of one's self instead of one's subject matter, that makes one think the audience is critically, perhaps laughingly examining him.

It is of course normal to desire the approval of the audience, but the novice usually over exaggerates the situation. With a little more intensity of thought on the content of his speech, and with a feeling that he has a message to deliver which the audience is receptive to hear, the novice can soon relegate the mental fright.

It then becomes a matter of concealing the normal physical disturbance. Authorities agree that a little nervousness makes for eloquence because it makes the speaker more impressionable and impulsive. But the outward manifestations should and can be controlled. G. R. Collins, former Professor of Public Speaking at New York University, gives these three essentials for control.

1. Realize that the audience is not hostile but receptive.

2. Adequately prepare yourself.

3. Master the physical mechanism of the body.

Practice these elements and there will never be an occasion where a state of mental chaos will be the tongue or petrify the mind. Stage fright will only be a possibility in others, never in you.

-Bklyn.
