YOMIM TOVIM AT THE WSIS

Congregational Citations of Merit and Thanks to our members who assisted at our High Holy Day services in so many ways. Highlighting the services were the shofar notes sounded by Nash Aussenberg; Cantorial assistants Benjamin Etzkowitz, Rabbi Aaron I. Reichel, and Samuel Schwarzman; ushers Alan Brown, Bennett Carter, Alexander Dimant, Dr. Frank E. Fink, Alfred Florsheim, Philip Gelman, Ned Kirsh, Sidney Krampf, Benjamin Miller, and Alexander Rauchman; and special participation by Ben Glazer and Samuel Gursky.

Our Succah again this year rated among the finest in our community for its inspiring beauty. Congregational gratitude to the Mr. & Mrs. League Succah Committee under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Maurice Goodgold and Mrs. Max Schwarz, and to their dedicated co-workers, Mr. & Mrs. Gerard Benjamin, Mr. & Mrs. Leon Bitner, Alan Brown, Mr. & Mrs. Alfred Florsheim, Mr. & Mrs. Samuel Gursky, Fred Heiser, Mrs. Lilly Hoff, Rabbi & Mrs. O. Asher Reichel, Rabbi Aaron I. Reichel, Mr. & Mrs. Herbert Rudnick, Max Schwarz and son Joseph, Samuel Schwarzman, Mrs. Eugene Ten Brink, and Mr. & Mrs. Henry Zimmern. Our thanks to the Women's League for supplying the wherewithal for the decorations as well as the refreshments for kiddush and to Lou G. Siegel's Restuarant for the kiddush rolls.

A special vote of appreciation to Mrs. Sidney Krampf who took personal charge of the kiddush during the entire Yom Tov, assisted by Mrs. Samuel Gursky, Mrs. O. Asher Reichel and Mrs. Abraham Schneider. Also helping were Alan Brown, Bennett Carter, Paul Foont and sons Larry and Mitchell, Mr. & Mrs. Alfred Florsheim, Ned Kirsh, Sidney Krampf, Benjamin Miller, Mrs. Max Redisch, Mrs. Itchak Silverman, Marc Sonnenschein, and Mrs. Peggy Tepper.

Checks for the Yizkor Apeal may be made payable to "Homes for Children in Israel" and mailed to our office.

The annual reception for our Congregational Family on Simchas Torah at the home of our Rabbi Dr. & Mrs. O. Asher Reichel was indeed another festive highlight.

The Yomim Tovim celebrations came to an impressive conclusion on Shabbos Breishis when our Simchas Torah Chassanim, Bennett Carter, Otto Heitlinger and Max Schwarz, and their wives, were the hosts at the festive Seudah Shlishis.

We hope to see ever growing numbers of our congregants at our forthcoming events which are announced in the columns of the REVIEW.

MEN'S CLUB NOTESBREAKFAST MEETINGS ON SUNDAYS NOV. 18 AND DEC. 9

Members and prospective members of the Men's Club are urged to attend the monthly Breakfast Meetings on November 18th and December 9th, at 10:00. Public lectures will follow.

The Men's Club will host the Kiddush on Saturday, November 17th, when blessings for the new Chodesh are recited.

EXCERPTS FROM FAMILY PAGE OF N. Y. TIMES:"DESPITE OPPOSITION, JEWISH RITUAL OF THE MIKVAH IS REVITALIZED"

There is probably no Jewish institution more shrouded in mystery, superstition, misunderstanding and stereotype than the mikvah.

Even though it is considered so crucial to the Jewish community that the construction of the ritual bath takes priority over that of the synagogue, the mikvah has been regarded variously as archaic, unnecessary, irrelevant and even absurd. Now, without fanfare or theological pressure, the mikvah and its demanding code of behavior, known as the laws of family purity, are undergoing a renaissance.

The resurgence cannot be documented by numbers, for attendance is considered a private matter. But it is apparent in the proliferation of seminars and lectures on the subject and in tours of mikva'ot (the plural of mikvah). The National Conference of Synagogue Youth of the U.O.J.C.A. has received sufficient demand for information to publish a book entitled the "Waters of Eden." Old mikva'ot in the cities are being renovated, new ones in the suburbs have been built or are on the drawing boards.

Rabbis and Jewish scholars attribute the trend to a variety of factors. But mainly they agree that it is indivisible from the general intensification of Judaism in this country, also evident in increasing numbers of day schools and yeshivas and the strengthening of Jewish education for young girls. In addition, it stems from increased pride in a disillusioned young generation for new moral standards.

Basically, the code of family purity mandates that a couple refrain from all physical contact (even holding hands) from the onset of the wife's menstrual period until seven days after the bleeding has ceased. Then she is to bathe her body and hair thoroughly, cut her fingernails so that they cannot hide a vestige of dirt and remove all foreign objects such as jewelry and bandages.

Finally, she must totally immerse herself three times in the mikvah while reciting a special prayer. The mikvah, itself built to rigid specifications, looks like a deep square bathtub with steps and contains water about four feet deep from a natural source such as rain. With immersion, the woman is considered purified and renewed.

She is also commanded to go to the mikvah just prior to her marriage, after miscarriage and after giving birth as well as on all occasions of blood appearance.

The mikvah is also crucial to the conversion process. In addition, Jews are commanded to submerge certain utensils in mikvahs reserved for that purpose.

Ritual cleanliness, Biblically ordained, Jewish scholars explain, has no connection with physical uncleanness, and there is no English word that precisely captures its meaning. The significance underlying the clearly delineated rules also resists easy explanation, but it is said that the rite is intended to give G-d's sanctification to the physical relationship to elevate the sexual act to a holy plane. In fact, many of the women who commit themselves to the ancient decree regard it as insurance against marital boredom and dissension, a benefit originally described in the Talmud.

Attendance at the mikvah would not be growing if it were not for its attraction to a breed of young women brought up outside the strict confines of orthodoxy. And no one more clearly personifies the new mikvah adherent than a 32-year-old mother of three.

"According to the American dream we should have been happy, but still we felt something was missing," she recalled. By chance they happened to hear Esther Jungreis, the charismatic founder of Hineni, a Jewish educational movement. "Finally all our questions were answered," she said. "Two years ago we went to Israel with her and for the first time lived a Jewish life. When I went to the mikvah in Jerusalem, I felt as if I had been reborn, as if I were a new bride. . . During the time of physical separation we have strengthened the other aspects of our relationship. Its benefits are uncountable."

Mrs. G. had had a hysterectomy before she went for the first time (women who no longer menstruate go only once afterwards). But when faced with the prospect of serious surgery last year, she said, "I felt the need to turn to G-d. And I felt that I had to go to the mikvah just once for all the times I was remiss in my life."

Just as several newlywed women interviewed had said, she recalled: "When I walked out, I felt purified and sanctified. I have had a wonderful marriage, I have had excitement and glamour, but I wish I had observed this law. It is observance of G-d's will."

"TAL UMATAR"
IN SHMONEH ESREY
AS OF TUESDAY NIGHT, DEC. 4

In the land of Israel a prayer for rain (Tal Umatar) is included in the ninth benediction of the shmoneh esrey amidah prayer (Bar-eych aleynu), beginning with the seventh day of Cheshvan. By this date "the last of the pilgrims had already managed to reach the Euphrates" in Jerusalem Temple days. From Shmini Atzeres until the seventh of Cheshvan we do not pray for rain, but we mention in the second benediction gevuros geshamim (the revelation of G-d's power through rain) by way of praise to G-d "Who causes the wind to blow and the rain to fall" (Mashiv haru'ach umorid hagashem).

In the diaspora where water is plentiful and there is not so great a need for rain, she'elat geshamim (the prayer for rain) is begun sixty days after the beginning of the "Tishrey-season." Since we calculate our tekufos (seasons) by the solar year, she'elat geshamim in the diaspora has no fixed day in our calendar which is based on the lunar months. It does however have a fixed date in the solar calendar; it being December 4th or December 5th, depending on the number of days in the month of February.

We pray for rain until Erev Pesach both in the land of Israel and in the diaspora.
